Frank practices civil litigation in the areas of personal injury, occupiers' liability, municipal liability, transportation law, subrogation, and accident benefits. Frank frequently provides risk management advice to various retailers and is often retained to defend retailers and other entities in large exposure claims.

Frank was an associate at McCague Borlack LLP from 2002 to 2006 and rejoined the firm in 2012 after 6 years as Senior Legal Counsel and Manager in the In-House Legal Department at an international insurance company. His experience as In-House Counsel, and as a 'client', provided Frank with excellent insight and an appreciation for the type of skills and expertise that insurers look for when retaining defence counsel.

Frank has extensive trial experience with both jury and non-jury trials before the Ontario Superior Court of Justice.

Over his 19 years of practice, Frank has participated in well over 450 mandatory and private mediations as counsel for both defendants and plaintiffs, which has allowed him to develop and hone his negotiation skills. In 2016, Frank obtained a Certificate from the Faculty of Law, University of Windsor in Alternative Dispute Resolution through the renowned Stitt Feld Handy Group ADR Workshop. More recently, Frank has acted in the capacity of mediator for various personal injury cases involving motor vehicle accidents, occupiers' liability claims and related matters.

In his downtime from legal, Frank enjoys buying and selling real estate and is a car enthusiast.
