

CLASS ACTIONS

Our Toronto lawyers were on the ground floor of the first class actions in Ontario, and have been involved as counsel in many of the leading class action cases since, all the way from commencement to the Supreme Court of Canada. Simply put, class actions are a different kettle of fish.

We provide our clients with an experienced team of trial lawyers that can analyze the issues and develop a strategy to efficiently manage and resolve this complex type of litigation.

We understand the technicalities and jurisprudence of the class action regime, and are able to combine that understanding with practical insights to provide effective representation in this unique and challenging area of litigation law.
